Welcome To: Pincking Wille of CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Pinckneyville adds new signs at town's edge.

Construction begins on Correctional Facility.

Snow greets students through winter months.

Paws And Look '97

After Registration on August 12 and 13, the school year began on August 20. Fall sports and band were already underway. Students began a second year of the Block 8 schedule. Clubs and organizations got together, and class officers were elected in September. The Cheerleaders hosted a Cheer and Dance Clinic and a State Cheerleading Clinic.

Homecoming Week started October with a return to the '50's with the theme "Grease". Sophomores ordered class rings, juniors voted on their class calendar girls, and seniors on class favorites. Picture retakes filled in an after school afternoon. The Marching Panthers participated in the Illini Marching Fest and hosted its fifth annual field show competition on a cold and damp Mardi Gras weekend.

A Red Cross blood drive began November, and an FHA Sock Hop dance followed. Fall sports gave way to winter for Wrestling and Basketball. December found PCHS finishing the first semester with exams before Christmas break — a welcome change especially when snow days played havoc with the school schedule at the start of January. Basketball games were scheduled on 25 of the 31 days of the month for a busy time of round ball.

Three PCHS All-State choral musicians started February with their festival in Peoria. Rend Lake College hosted the regional WYSE competition which included 27 PCHS students. PCHS attended school on Lincoln's Birthday and took the President's Day holiday instead. Trico hosted the basketball regional and beat PCHS in the finals, only the third regional defeat in over 20 years.

March highlights included the musical "Anything Goes" and the second annual Lifesavers benefit basketball game between PCHS faculty and radio station Z100 stars. The spring sports of baseball, softball and track all turned from practices to games and meets by month's end.

April brought the NHS induction, the second annual MORP dance, and many students taking the ACT test for college admissions. A surprise snow storm brought four inches of the white stuff in the second week.

May was unusually cool and flew by for most students as many field trips finished classes, the Drama Club presented a play of Shakespeare highlights, and the spring sports wound down. One girl and two guys qualified for state track meets. Some students made last-gasp efforts to pass. Seniors took a class trip to Six Flags St. Louis on May 20, after Sunday's Baccalaureate, then returned for exams and their Commencement on the 23rd. Underclass students came back after Memorial Day to turn in books and finish exams through May 30.

Board Takes Present, Future Look

The PCHS Board of Education: Mr. Ted Cunningham, Mr. Danny Wildermuth, Mr. Jerry Rieckenberg, Mr. Alan Hastings, Mrs. Debbie Plumlee, Mr. Wendell Weatherford — President, Mrs. Mary Radake — pictured in the Distance Learning Lab in room 37 — handled their present responsibilities as overseers of the overall operation of District #101. Further, they extended their look ahead to consider building additions and changes in the Vocational and Band areas of Thomas Gym, curriculum and personnel changes enhanced by the Distance Learning Lab and the Block 8 schedule and a fluctuating student population, and appropriate financial investments in the education of current and future PCHS students.

Catering Builds Healthy Habits

Catering Unlimited, PCHS' student enterprise in advanced food service, continued to satisfy school and community groups with a variety of healthy and delicious meals, snacks, and services. Mrs. Hatch kept two classes on schedule for many holiday and special events. PCHS students learned the basic principles of food preparation and balance in nutrition and cooking in introductory foods classes, including a first experience with cake decorating. Mrs. Przygoda and Mrs. Hatch taught the basic courses.

Experiments Help Science Learning

Students in science classes used experiments to help their understanding of various subjects. Chemistry students participated in Mole Day activities on 10/23. Advanced Chemistry students highlighted their experience in the lab at SIU-C and were not responsible for the fire alarm and building evacuation. Helium-filled balloons provided the basis for other experiments as did the traditional dissections in Biology classes.

Students Meeting Class Challenges

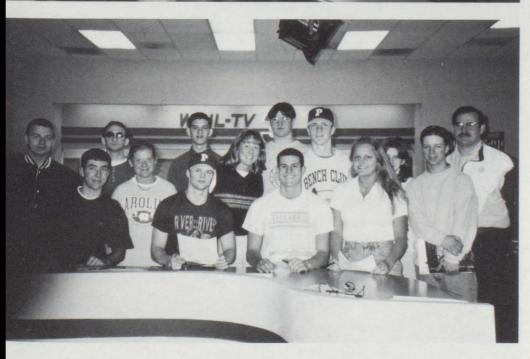

Students worked to meet the every day and the special challenges and goals of the second year of the Block 8 schedule. Sometimes that meant working cooperatively in Intro to Social Studies or in groups on assignments in Algebra. Other times challenges were presented to help improve skills in Spanish or Computer Concepts, or to demonstrate English skills on state IGAP tests. In addition to these common experiences, a "World in Focus" trip to channel 3 in Carterville, an auto skid demonstration for all Sophomores, and an officially certified automotive program further highlighted PCHS' year.

Medical Services Keep Healthy Look

School nurse Mrs. C. K. Longshore directs the health service which is involved in the ongoing daily care as well as some special medical needs that require attention. The NHS-sponsored Blood Drives, Rend Lake College's LPN students' help with the Blood Pressure Awareness Screening Program, the annual vision and hearing check-ups, a dentist's visit, and the Perry County Health Department's immunization program all require close coordination of time schedules for their successful operation and the concentrated efforts of many people to help keep PCHS as healthy as possible.

The 1997 baseball season was a mix of exciting wins and tough losses. Every game was a tightly fought contest that brought respect from all opponents. With big wins against Steeleville, West Frankfort, and Marissa, as well as exciting extra inning contests against Sparta and Murphysboro, the Panthers proved to be a team to be reckoned with. With the return of all but three returning lettermen, the Panthers have re-established their presence in the River-to-River Conference.

PCHS showed their true talents at the Variety Show. The crowd enjoyed skits, vocal solos, bands, and Homecoming Queen crowning. Homecoming Queen Jayci Schneider was crowned and shown with the other candidates: Jennifer Bruns, Lacy Woodside, Jessica Grab, Kim Kellerman, and Lauralee Epplin.

With the theme of "Greese," the Pom Pon girls dance with their chosen greasers.

The new "Queen Before the Queen." Kyle Pursell was crowned by reigning Queen, Jarid Craig.

The band "Flashtones" roused the crowd with their musical talents.

Cheerleaders show their versatility in skit.

Faculty members intently watch to judge the skits fairly.

Homecoming Parade Friday, October 4

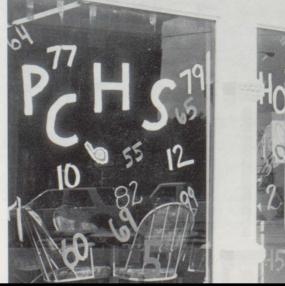

The Student Council-sponsored Homecoming activities continued with the traditional parade on Friday, October 4, after an early dismissal. The theme "Grease" from the movie and play, brought many memories of the 50's back to town.

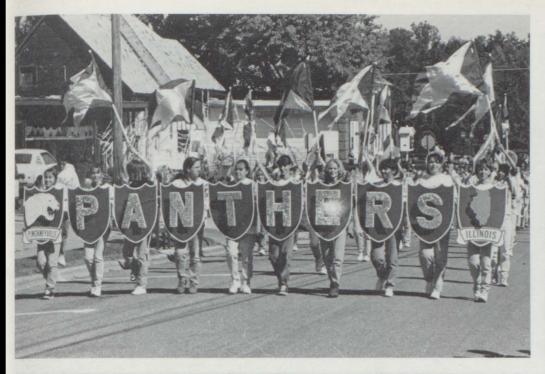

Jayci Schneider reigned as Homecoming Queen, receiving her crown from retiring Queen Jodie Eisfelder.

Over 20 entries made up the parade, with all classes plus many clubs and groups participating with floats and marchers.

Student Council led the parade with their "theme carts".

The FHA commandeered a '57 Chevy for their float.

Stepping off in the early part of the parade, the Marching Panthers helped to build Panther

Mr. Ted Cunningham was selected to be the parade's Grand Marshall.

Many local businesses allowed the cheerleaders to "paint the town" with various signs, symbols, and slogans related to the Homecoming and football themes.

NHS Assists In Blood Drives

The National Honor Society stayed involved in various projects to exemplify their qualities of service, character, leadership, and scholarship. Red Cross blood drives sponsored in November and March led the positive efforts by the organization with advisor Mrs. Engelhardt. Assisting the local food pantry by bringing items to each monthly meeting, tutoring students in various classes, and giving time and attention to patients and workers in the local nursing home and hospital skilled care units were among other worthwhile projects of members of NHS.

Lifesavers Gain From Faculty Game

The Second Annual Celebrity Basketball Game netted the Lifesavers organization over $1500. Played March 18th in Thomas Gym, the game between PCHS Faculty/Staff and radio station Z100 personalities featured many memorable moments — some of them only remotely resembling or related to basketball.

Silent Auction Adds To Benefit

Many school groups and community businesses assisted the Lifesavers Benefit with various contributions of items for sale in a silent auction or by conducting contests like the FFA Week's "Kiss the Pig" promotion that earned financial aid specifically for the Lifesavers group.

for the Lifesavers group.

In the Faculty vs Z100 basketball game, the "Panthers" continued their Thomas Gym success by surviving an incredible run on the scoreboard by Z100 — baskets, turnovers, steals, and rebounds: all gained points for the Zooper Hoopers — but PCHS prevailed for the second straight year.

Music Makers: PCHS' Performers Add To The Arts
